

Introducing Jobulator: A Companion to Aesop for Substitutes

Welcome to your first school year with Aesop! We hope everything is off to a great start for you.

As a district using Aesop, you want to fill absences with the best substitute teachers possible; your substitutes want to easily find assignments. Jobulator helps with both!

Substitutes often told us they were tired of sitting at home for hours on end, clicking “refresh” in Aesop as they checked for new job offers. That’s why we created Jobulator – a service that checks Aesop and automatically notifies substitutes when a new job becomes available in their Aesop account.

The computer desktop version allows substitutes to be notified of jobs at home (within earshot of their computer), while the mobile version allows them to leave home, confident that they won’t miss job offers when they’re away from their computers. Substitutes can easily accept or reject assignments right from Jobulator, without having to log in to Aesop.

Since its introduction in 2010, Jobulator has helped districts increase their fill rates and get preferred substitutes into their classrooms. Jobulator does not change how Aesop works for your district, but rather honors all the settings you already have configured in Aesop.

Your district doesn’t need to do anything to activate Jobulator – it is already “turned on” and available for your substitutes to purchase if they choose for $40/year.

If you have any questions about Jobulator, feel free to contact Rich Kolmus at rkolmus@FrontlineTechnologies.com, and we’d be happy to provide you with more information.

Feel free to point your substitutes to www.Jobulator.com for a free trial or to support@jobulator.com if they have any questions.
